

Sorry I'm late getting this out, but on the plus side I have two functioning arms again.

So it looks like there are going to be a bunch of entries for Style of the Quarter. Look for word from Lee on the details of when and where to drop off the entries, and also if you want to help judge.

World Cup - We are looking for some people that want to help out our Sponsor Coordinator, also we are looking for someone to be our Sponsor Coordinator.

Our Holiday Party is being held on December 4th at Linden street.

November 27th is our next brew out at Oak Barrel. We will get the details up on the Website in the next couple of weeks. We are really pushing to get some extract brewers out this time. And we are also pushing for people to group up to either apprentice, mentor, or even "inventory management" (aka, making sure there is room in the keg for the next batch)

Paul talked about his plan to get a Brewing Buddy system up and running. Until we get a better method put together, if you are brewing and willing to have someone come over and help out feel free to send an email to the club.

We had Scott from UCSF who gave an impressive presentation on yeast. Check the website if you need a copy of it. It has some great information on getting your little buddies ready to go. It is much more detailed than the shake and pray method a lot of people are using.

Let me know if you have anything you want to present to the club on, or if you have anything you might want to know more about for us to put together a presentation on.

No one left any beer at the meeting for me to steal, I mean sample, so sadly I can't make comments on a random individual's beer this month.

Look forward to next month's meeting on Nov 11th. I'll have a presentation on Building a Keggerator.

As always, check the website for any updates.
